

COLMAN RITES TODAY

Funeral services for Max L. Colman, who died at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., September 17, will be held at 2 o'clock today at the residence of his father-in-law, Isador Kaufman, Ontario road northwest.

Colman was one of first twenty-one-year-olds to be inducted into the service, and contracted pneumonia while training at Camp Lee. He was married four months ago to Miss Beatrice Kaufman.

USE WOMEN IN ARMY

The British army has sent out a call for women range-finders, according to the Y. W. C. A. war work council representative here.

These women are employed in the British optician munitions factories and are used exclusively for testing range-finders. Because of the nature of the work and the delicate mechanism it has been found that women are particularly fitted for it.

Let the noise of quarters and dust pouring into the U. S. Treasury are useless. Help provide both by buying War Savings Stamps.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

Royal Visitor Is Feted—Luncheon at the White House. Lansings to Entertain.

THE PRESIDENT AND MRS. WILSON entertained informally luncheon at the White House today in compliment to His Royal Highness Prince Axel of Denmark, a commander in the Danish navy, who is here with a commission of Danish naval officers to study our navy and observe naval activities. The prince was formally received by the President yesterday afternoon, the Secretary of State, Mr. Lansing making the introduction. The prince and his suite arrived late in the afternoon, and were escorted to the White House by Mr. Lansing and the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Daniels. The home of Axel Ch. P. Wichfeld, attache of the Danish legation, has been placed at their disposal during their stay in Washington.

Last evening the President and Mrs. Wilson attended the performance at the Theatre, having as guests Mrs. William H. Bolling, Miss Bertha Bolling, and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones. This afternoon President Wilson received Prof. Thomas G. Masaryk, Ignace Jan Paderewski, Dr. Hinkovitch, Emil Reyuk, Lieut. Basile-Stolica and John Almagia. These gentlemen delivered to him the resolutions of the great union victory meeting of the oppressed nationalities of central Europe held at Carnegie Hall, New York, last Sunday.

Entertaining in honor of H. R. H. Prince Axel, cousin of the King of Denmark, who is here as the guest of the Navy Department, was inaugurated last evening when the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Joseph Daniels gave a dinner in his honor. Tonight he will be the guest of the Secretary of State and Mrs. Lansing, who will have a distinguished company to meet him; and other hospitable parties which have been arranged in his honor include a luncheon which the Danish Minister, Constantin Brun, will give tomorrow, and a dinner tomorrow evening with Admiral William S. Benson, chief of naval operations, as host. The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels will also take the Prince and his suite to Mount Vernon, the trip being made aboard the Mayflower.

Mrs. Daniels, who was hostess at the dinner last evening, was the only lady present. The guests asked to meet his royal highness were the Danish minister, Mr. Brun; Engineer

Redfield, Lieutenant Laub and Lieutenant Thiele, all of the Danish navy; and members of Prince Axel's staff, Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the marine corps; Congressman Lemuel P. Padgett, head of the House Committee on Naval Affairs; Rear Admiral Leigh C. Fisher, Rear Admiral R. S. Griffin, Rear Admiral Ralph Earle, Rear Admiral David W. Taylor, Paymaster General Samuel McGowan, Rear Admiral G. W. Parks, Rear Admiral George R. Clark, Surgeon General W. C. Braisted, Capt. W. V. Pratt, Comdr. Adolphus Andrews, aide to the commission, and the Secretary's aide, Comdr. P. W. Foote.

The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand entertained at dinner at the embassy last evening in compliment to Major General Janin, the distinguished French army officer, who has recently been designated to command the Czech-Slovak armies in France, Italy, and Russia, and who is en route to Vladivostok. There were twelve guests to meet him.

General Janin called at the White House, accompanied by the French ambassador, shortly after his arrival in Washington, and was received by the President. The ambassador and Mme. Jusserand had an informal luncheon for their distinguished guest on Wednesday, and that evening the retiring military attache of the French embassy, General Vignal, and Mme. Vignal gave a dinner in his honor.

Mrs. da Gama, wife of the Brazilian ambassador, will not accompany her husband when he sails for Brazil to become minister for foreign affairs, but will follow him next spring after spending the winter in New York, her former home. Mrs. da Gama went back to New York to stay after making a short stay at the embassy with Mr. da Gama. She will return here next month to superintend the removal of the embassy from Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls' Massachusetts avenue residence, where it has been established for several years.

Redfield Going to N. H. Mrs. William C. Redfield will accompany Mr. Redfield, the Secretary of Commerce, to Boston, where he is scheduled to make an address early next week. They will leave town on Tuesday and will be gone several days. Their son, Ensign Humphrey Redfield, is on sea duty. His wife is making her home with her parents in Cincinnati, joining her husband for short periods whenever it is possible.

John Barrett, Director General of the Pan American Union, returned to town today from a trip to New York, where he attended the annual meeting of the executive council of the Pan American Society of the United States.

Mrs. Arthur Woods, wife of Colonel Woods, chief personnel officer of the Air Service, U. S. A., is visiting at the home of Henry White, 1233 Nineteenth street, for a week or two, and is hunting for a suitable residence, as she expects to spend the winter in Washington. Colonel Woods is now on a mission overseas, but will join her here before long.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Lansing, wife of the Secretary of State, has asked for guests for which Mrs. Woods and learn something of the community kitchen idea which she is endeavoring to introduce into Washington as a means of solving the problem of living. The project has been tried out in New York with considerable success.

Benson at Home. Admiral and Mrs. William S. Benson have returned to their apartment in the Wyoming after an absence of several weeks. Admiral Benson, who was taking his first vacation in three years, was in the Adirondacks a week or two, after which Mrs. Benson joined him, and they spent the last part of his holiday together. He had been visiting her cousin, Mrs. E. H. Bull, in Erie, Pa.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Edward H. Swift & Company's sales of fresh beef in Washington, D. C., for the week ending Saturday, September 14, 1918, averaged 13 cents per pound.—Adv.

WOMEN AROUND FIFTY NEED NOT LOOK MOTHERLY ON ACCOUNT OF GRAY HAIR

The hair of many of our women turns prematurely gray, or streaked with gray, and this has a mortifying effect, or makes them look old and motherly or sometimes unattractive. This is an unnecessary condition, as it is as easy to turn the gray hair to that soft, evenly dark, fluffly, beautiful hair you used to have. It is what Mrs. ... one of our society leaders' hair had turned prematurely gray seven or eight years ago, but she has turned back the hand of time by skillfully applying La Creole Hair Dressing to her hair and scalp. This preparation is Green announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Montfort Green, to Lieut. Comdr. Alva Douglas Bernhard, U. S. N., who is attached to the United States ship Kansas. Admiral and Mrs. Green and their daughters are at Monterey, Pa., where they have had a cottage for the summer. Miss Green was presented to society in Washington several seasons ago, and was particularly popular with the navy. Commander Bernhard was at one time stationed at the Washington Navy Yard.

Mrs. Joseph Daniels left town today for a hasty trip to North Carolina in the interest of the Y. W. C. A. war council, of which she is a member.

Don Angel Guarelli Gallo and Rodolfo Jarmillo have arrived in Washington to serve as attaches of the Chilean embassy.

The Netherlands legation has a new attache in the person of J. E. Inckel, technical advisor for colonial affairs, who has recently arrived in Washington.

Takes Over New Home. Baron Knut Bonde, first secretary of the Swedish legation, has taken possession of the residence, 1742 N. Street, and in the absence of Baroness Bonde, who is still at Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., Count Goran Rosen, second secretary of the legation, and Olaf H. Kamm, shipping delegate, will with him.

The temporary staff of the legation, of which Mr. Lamm is a member, has been augmented by the arrival of Gustaf Ljundman, technical advisor to the Swedish commission, and Bertil A. Renborg, secretary of the commission. Mr. Renborg is accompanied by Mrs. Renborg, John Allan Miller, commercial attache of the legation, and Mrs. Miller and Lieut. J. B. Jeansson, honorary attache, are listed as absent in the new issue of the diplomatic list.

Miss Ellen Windom Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bentley, Wirt Warren, of Boston, who is married to Danforth Gear, Jr., of New York, September 23, in Williamstown, Mass., where the bride's parents have a country place. Miss Warren is a granddaughter of the late William Windom, who was Secretary of the Treasury under Presidents Garfield and Harrison. Mr. Gear is a member of the Ordnance Department in Washington.

During this year Miss Warren has been with her father here, who has been served as chief legal adviser to the United States Fuel Administration, and Miss Warren has been engaged in a branch of Red Cross work.

At Bar Harbor. Mr. and Mrs. V. Everett Macy, of New York, are expected in Washington about October 1, and will be at the apartment at 1745 Massachusetts avenue, which they occupied last year for the winter months. Mrs. Macy is at present in Bar Harbor with her sister.

Mrs. Theodore V. Boynton is spending several days at the Wolcott Hotel, New York.

Mrs. James F. Barbour has returned to her Washington residence after an absence of several weeks, during which she visited Rear Admiral and Mrs. Harold Norton at their summer home at Oyster Bay, Mass., and spent some time with her daughter, Mrs. George Lewis Mayer, of Philadelphia, in Atlantic City.

The Ohio Girls' Club and the uniformed men from Ohio will join the Arion Club on their boat trip to Marshall Hall, which they will take Saturday evening, the boat leaving at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. William S. McNair, wife of Brigadier General McNair, U. S. A., who is now in France, and her daughter, Mrs. Edward Sterling, wife of Lieutenant Sterling, U. S. A., also in France, have arrived in Washington and have taken an apartment at the Wyoming for the winter. Mrs. Sterling was Miss Mary Louise McNair before her marriage, which took place last fall. She, with her mother, have been making their home at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., where General McNair and Lieutenant Sterling were stationed before going to France.

You Can't Eat Meat 100 Miles Away

Preparing meat is only a part of Swift & Company's usefulness.

The finest meat in the world wouldn't do you any good one hundred miles away from your table.

Swift & Company efficiency has made it possible to place complete lines of products in the smallest and most remote communities.

To be sure the work is done well Swift & Company, through its branch houses and car routes, brings the meat to the retail dealer for you.

Swift & Company lays out car routes covering towns—big, little, medium size—which are not served by a Swift branch house.

Salesmen find out in advance what is wanted by the dealers in every town.

They are followed by refrigerator cars loaded with retailers' orders, which are delivered at each town—fresh, clean, and sweet—once or twice each week.

Swift & Company operates a large number of car routes like this, from fourteen distributing plants.

This is a necessary and natural part of the packer's usefulness. It fits into the industry in an orderly, effective way. It makes better meat cheaper from one end of the land to the other.
